

What Will Set You Free

Certified Coach

Kim Crawford, R.Ph. M.S., M.A.

Kim's mission is to support individual, group, and organizational transformation through heart-centered awareness. She is a compassionate, intuitive, and engaging transformational change agent.

Kim is co-founder of thethirdspace.us, an on-line experiential learning platform dedicated to seeding, nurturing, and transforming business through awakening the heart. She is the co-creator of Conscious Business Conversations© and the Love in Business System©.

She has integrated several decades of experience as a healthcare professional focused on whole system transformation with an ongoing journey in consciousness. Originally trained as a pharmacist, her background and experience include over 30 years as a transformational change leader in healthcare.

She believes that your heart is the most powerful tool available to transform your life and change the world. As a coach and focalizer, she invites you to become an explorer and create possibility. She provides a space for you to pause and awaken the creative, authentic, and inspired human potential within.

Kim has been on her spiritual path since a young age. Though it has taken different forms at different ages, spiritual growth has always been a part of her life. Her life-long pursuit of experiential learning and the consciousness continuum continues to deepen transformational experiences in the science of mind, the science of being, the science of group work, and spiritual psychology.

Certified as a Conscious Business Change Agent and transformational change coach, Kim encouraged and supports organizations to presence a heart-centered business culture.